CODE OF CONDUCT

Since several years CODART Patrons have been offered the possibility to attend our events. We are delighted to be able to offer our Patrons the opportunity to participate in these activities.

CODART events are international gatherings at which knowledge and expertise are exchanged at various levels, both formally and informally. CODART's strength resides in the spontaneity of this interaction. Our Members give generously of their expertise because they know that the information they share will be treated confidentially. We therefore rely on our Patrons' discretion.

Our events are certainly not intended as venues to buy and sell works of art or to seek commercial contacts. If Patrons would like to receive advice about artworks on the market, they are of course at liberty to contact our Members either before or after the event..

Impromptu attributions or other assessments of artworks given during our activities are not binding. Neither the curators nor CODART can be held responsible for off-the-cuff statements.

Museum visits and social gatherings, such as lunches and receptions, are part of the professional network program and organized to give the curators the possibility to exchange their ideas and to share expertise. If Patrons prefer to discuss off-topic issues with curators or other Patrons, they are of course at liberty to find other occasions or venues.

We warmly welcome our Patrons to our events because we hope that this event will contribute to a fruitful and enduring relationship between our Members and Patrons.

We wish all participants of our future activities a pleasant and inspiring time.
